Introduction

Non-Governmental Organizations and the United Nations Department of Public Information: Some Questions and Answers

“ ... Civil society occupies a unique space where ideas are born, where mindsets are changed, and where the work of development and conservation doesn't just get talked about, but gets done”.

*Secretary-General Kofi Annan at the Civil Society Forum in Johannesburg,
South Africa, 2 September 2002*

What is a non-governmental organization?

A non-governmental organization (NGO) is any non-profit, voluntary citizens' group, which is organized on a local, national or international level. Task-oriented and driven by people with a common interest, NGOs can perform a variety of services, development and humanitarian functions, bring citizens' concerns to Governments, monitor policies and encourage political participation at the community level. Those that share the principles of the United Nations are able to work directly or indirectly with the Organization. They provide analysis and expertise, serve as early warning mechanisms and help monitor and implement international agreements. Some are organized around specific issues, such as human rights, the environment or health. Their relationship with offices and agencies of the United Nations system differs depending on their goals, their venue and their mandate.

About 1,400 NGOs with strong information programmes on issues of concern to the United Nations are associated with the Department of Public Information (DPI), providing the United Nations with valuable links to people around the world. DPI helps those NGOs gain access to and disseminate information about the range of issues in which the United Nations is involved, to enable the public to understand better the aims and objectives of the Organization.

How do NGOs and DPI cooperate?

The Department of Public Information and NGOs cooperate regularly. NGOs associated with DPI disseminate information about the UN to their membership, thereby building knowledge of and support for the Organization at the national and local levels. This cooperation includes:

- Publicizing UN activities around the world on such issues as peace and security, economic and social development, human rights, humanitarian affairs and international law;
- Promoting UN observances and international years established by the General Assembly to focus world attention on important issues facing humanity.

➤ Working in partnership with the NGO Section of DPI to organize its NGO Briefing programmes, the DPI/NGO Communications Workshops and the Annual DPI/NGO Conference.

When did the DPI relationship with NGOs begin?

The importance of working with and through NGOs as an integral part of United Nations information activities was recognized when the Department of Public Information was first established in 1946. The General Assembly, in its resolution 13 (1), instructed DPI and its branch offices to: "... actively assist and encourage national information services, educational institutions and other governmental and non-governmental organizations of all kinds interested in spreading information about the United Nations. For this and other purposes, it should operate a fully equipped reference service, brief or supply lecturers, and make available its publications, documentary films, film strips, posters and other exhibits for use by these agencies and organizations ".

In 1968, the Economic and Social Council, by Resolution 1297 (XLIV) of 27 May, called on DPI to associate with NGOs, bearing in mind the letter and spirit of its Resolution 1296 (XLIV) of 23 May 1968, which stated that an NGO "...shall undertake to support the work of the United Nations and to promote knowledge of its principles and activities, in accordance with its own aims and purposes and the nature and scope of its competence and activities".

What are the criteria for NGOs to become associated with DPI?

Organizations eligible for association with DPI are those which:

➤ Support and respect the principles of the Charter of the United Nations;

➤ Are recognized nationally or/and internationally;

➤ Operate solely on a not-for-profit basis and have tax-exempt status;

➤ Have the commitment and means to conduct effective information programmes with its constituents and to a broader audience about UN activities by maintaining websites; publishing newsletters, bulletins, and pamphlets; organizing conferences, seminars and round tables; or enlisting the attention of the media;

➤ Have an established record of continuity of work for a minimum of three years and can show promise of sustained activity in the future;

➤ Have a satisfactory record of collaboration with UN Information Centers/Services or other parts of the UN System prior to association;

➤ Have statutes/by-laws providing for a transparent process of taking decisions, elections of officers and members of the Board of Directors.

What is the procedure for NGOs to become associated with DPI?

An NGO that meets the established criteria should send an official letter from its headquarters to the Chief of the NGO

Section, Department of Public Information, expressing interest in association with DPI. The letter should state the reasons why the organization seeks association and should briefly describe its information programmes. After the NGO Section approves the request, the application form is provided. The application should include all required information materials, six samples of their information materials. Letters of reference from UN Departments, UN Programmes and Specialized Agencies, and/or UN Information Centers and Services (UNICs and UNISs) as well as NGOs in good standing with the United Nations will greatly enhance consideration of the application.

Correspondence should be sent to:
 Chief, NGO Section
 Department of Public Information
 Room S-1070L
 United Nations, New York, NY 10017
 Tel: (212) 963-6842
 Fax: (212) 963-6914 or (212) 963 2819
 E-mail: dpingo@un.org

Once the application process is completed, the DPI Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations will review applications at its twice yearly meetings. Applicants are then notified of the results of the Committee's decisions, and associated NGOs are invited to designate their main and alternate representatives to the Department of Public Information.

Please note: Association of NGOs with DPI does not constitute their incorporation into the United Nations system, nor does it entitle associated organizations or their staff to any kind of privileges, immunities or special status.

What does consultative status with the Economic and Social Council entail?

Non-governmental, non-profit public or voluntary organizations may be admitted into a mutually beneficial working relationship with the United Nations by attaining consultative status with the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC).

Article 71 of the Charter provides that "...the Economic and Social Council may make suitable arrangements for consultations with non-governmental organizations which are concerned with matters within its competence". Such arrangements are governed by ECOSOC resolution 1296 (XLIV) of 23 May 1968, which makes provision for NGOs to be placed in consultative status with ECOSOC, as well as for them to hold consultations with its secretariat.

In 1996, ECOSOC revised its arrangements for consultation with NGOs. It standardized arrangements for accrediting NGOs for UN conferences, streamlined the process of applying for ECOSOC consultative status, and decided that national NGOs would be eligible to apply. "General status", according to its Resolution 1996/31, is granted to large, international NGOs that work several issues on ECOSOC's agenda; "special consultative status" is granted to NGOs that have competence in a few of ECOSOC's issue areas; while "roster status" is granted to NGOs, that ECOSOC considers can make occasional useful contributions to its work.

Another outcome of the review was ECOSOC Decision 1996/297, which recommended that the General Assembly examine the question of the participation of NGOs in all areas of work of the UN, in light of the experience gained through the consultative arrangement between NGOs and ECOSOC. Subsequently, the Secretary-General has been reporting to the General Assembly on arrangements and practices for the interaction of NGOs in all activities of the UN system (A/53/170 of 10 July 1998).

ECOSOC decides on consultative status for NGOs based upon the recommendation of its inter-governmental Committee on Non-Governmental Organizations. This Committee is composed of 19 Member States and meets twice a year.

CONGO, the Conference of Non-Governmental Organizations in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations, serves as a representative voice of NGOs in consultative status with ECOSOC. CONGO ensures that these NGOs enjoy the fullest opportunities and appropriate facilities for performing their consultative functions, provides a forum on the consultative process, and convenes meetings of member organizations to exchange views on matters of common interest.

NGOs that have consultative status with ECOSOC and possess strong public information programmes are granted association with DPI upon written request to the DPI/NGO Section.

What is the NGO/DPI Executive Committee?

The Section works closely with the NGO/DPI Executive Committee, an 18-member committee elected by the NGO community, to act in an advisory and liaison capacity to channel information and to represent the interests of NGOs associated with DPI. The NGO/DPI Executive Committee is made up of NGOs from different parts of the world whose representatives in New York are elected for a period of two years. It collaborates with the NGO Section on events, programmes and initiatives of mutual interest, including the Communications Workshops programme for NGOS and planning and organization of the Annual DPI/NGO Conference, the premier event for NGOs at the United Nations each year, attracting 1,700 to 2,000 participants.

The NGO/DPI Executive Committee is not part of the Department of Public Information. NGOs' association with DPI is independent of their relationship with the Executive Committee. DPI-associated NGOs are encouraged to maintain regular contact with the DPI/NGO Section.

How does DPI assist NGOs?

The DPI/NGO Section at United Nations Headquarters provides a number of services to its associated organizations. For example, the Section:

- Organizes and coordinates, in collaboration with the NGO/DPI Executive Committee, the Annual DPI/NGO Conference for Non-Governmental Organizations. This international forum, open to all NGOs working with the United Nations, brings together senior UN system and Government officials, prominent international NGOs, academicians, public opinion makers and international media to discuss issues of global concern;

➤ Organizes weekly NGO Briefings at UN Headquarters for the NGO community on a range of global issues. The speakers for these briefings are senior United Nations System officials, Member State delegates and NGOs with expertise on the particular issue addressed at the briefing;

➤ Provides UN grounds passes for a main and two alternate NGO representatives giving them access to all open meetings of UN bodies; to DPI photo, film and audio libraries; to the Dag Hammarskjöld Library; and, as observers, to the meetings of some 22 NGO committees organized by the Conference of NGOs in Consultative Status with ECOSOC (CONGO);

➤ Coordinates joint DPI/NGO information programmes;

➤ Conducts a yearly two-day orientation course for newly accredited NGO representatives at Headquarters;

➤ Publishes the DPI/NGO Directory, which lists all associated NGOs alphabetically, by region and by subject of specialization;

➤ Maintains the NGO Resource Center, which offers:

- access to official UN documents and press releases;
- monthly mailings of UN information materials to all associated NGOs;

- a video lending library with an extensive collection of UN films;
- a continuously updated selection of United Nations System publications;
- computers with Internet access for on-site research;
- a selection of NGO publications.

In addition to collaboration with DPI at Headquarters, the NGO community is encouraged to maintain regular and close contact with the scores of United Nations Information Centers (UNICs) and United Nations Information Services (UNISs) worldwide to access United Nations information and organize joint projects.

What are the responsibilities of NGOs associated with DPI?

Beginning with the founding of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945, NGOs have made valuable contributions to the international community by drawing attention to issues, suggesting ideas and programmes, disseminating information and mobilizing public opinion in support of the UN system.

Association with DPI constitutes a commitment to that effect. Associated NGOs are expected to devote a portion of their information programmes to promoting knowledge of the United Nations' principles and activities. An evaluation and review process was put in place in 2002 wherein NGOs associated with DPI are expected to keep the DPI/NGO Section abreast of their activities by providing a short summary of their UN-related activities and samples of their information materials every four years relating to the work of the UN. The information materials are made available at the DPI/NGO Resource Centre.
